THE PROGRESSIVE ANSWER TO HARDING HYPOCRISY

There is increasing evidence that the rank and file of Progressive Republicans throughout the nation are not going to repudiate their principles and blindly follow Senator Hiram Johnson into the Penrose-Smoot reactionary camp.

The managers of the Harding presidential syndicate have been making heroic efforts to cover up the defection of this large element of the party. The idea, apparently, is that if they talk harmony loudly enough and long enough they will create a condition of harmony which does not exist to start with.

Great to do has been made by the syndicate's publicity department whenever even a lukewarm supporter of Roosevelt has approached within hearing distance of the Marion front porch.

The syndicate candidate himself has missed no chance to speak glowingly of the dead Roosevelt and his progressive principles.

This same syndicate candidate, when Roosevelt was alive and fighting for those principles, called him the Aaron Burr of American politics and predicted that he and his Progressive followers would crawl back to the Republican party "on their knees."

While these hypocritical attempts to placate the Progressives and delude the public have been under way the Progressives themselves have been quietly preparing to expose the whole scheme by defending their principles and the memory of their old leader.

Fifteen of the leading Progressives who helped to organize the Bull Moose party eight years ago have issued an appeal to the men and women who put their hearts and souls into that movement, to support Cox.

Among those signing the appeal are Matthew Hale, of Massachusetts; Francis J. Henry, of California; Judge Ben B. Lindsey, of Colorado; John M. Parker, who was nominated for vice president on the ticket with Roosevelt in 1912; and George C. Rublee, of New Hampshire.

The following extract from the appeal is indicative of the sentiment of real Progressives throughout the nation:

"Cox's record as three times governor of Ohio appeals strongly to Progressive and Independent people. His legislative record comprises all the measures which are progressively grouped under the Rooseveltian classification of social justice. He has given his state a direct primary law and an up-to-date progressive constitution (over the opposition of Senator Harding)."

"Governor Cox believes that it is the business of the government to improve the living conditions, promote the comfort and health and increase the happiness of the average man, woman and child. His attitude on the sacred questions of this campaign is clearly defined."

"His answers to questions are yes and no. Look closely at the record of Governor Cox and you will find it true to the Progressivism of Theodore Roosevelt."

"For the time forgetting our partisanship, we have given the records of the candidates our careful consideration, and we can find but one answer: That it is our patriotic and progressive duty to energetically and enthusiastically support Governor James M. Cox for the presidency."

WHAT WE MAY EXPECT

We print the following from an exchange hoping it may have the effect of arousing our women to their full duty:

"If Kentucky women who were anti-suffragists or believe that their 'place is in the home,' do not go to the polls in November they are likely to have a negro postmaster, negro members on their Board of Education and a negro collector of internal revenue next year."

"Last week when a delegation of negroes visited the Republican nominee on his front porch in Marion, a negress informed him that negro women will expect a share of patronage in proportion to the number of votes they cast. Harding, in reply to the speech, promised full rights of citizenship to negroes in the event of a Republican victory."

"The leading negro newspaper of Louisville, where Republican protection has given the negroes a broad scope, has put forward a candidate for the Louisville Board of Education, on the plea that he is a 'strong race man, and does not admit any inequality.' With negroes on boards of education, how long do white women think it would be before we have mixed schools? The same negro paper is inciting its readers to vote against the school bond issue because most of the money is to be used in the white schools."

"There are about 75,000 negro women in Kentucky. Every one of them who is able to ride to the polls in an automobile will vote. In case of a Republican victory conditions similar to the reconstruction days following the Civil War will follow. What are the white women going to do about it?"

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE COMMENTS

Here's a tip for some of our members to memorize:

Say it!

When you've got a thing to say. Say it. Don't take half a day. When your tale's got little in it. Crowd the whole thing in a minute. Life is short—a fleeting vapor—Don't you fill the whole blamed paper.

With a tale, which, at a pinch, Could be crowded into an inch. Tell her down until she simmers; Polish her until she gimmers; When you've got a thing to say, Say it. Don't take half a day.

—C-o-f-C—

Well, what do you think of 'em? The road-signs we have put up? We have had any number of favorable comments, which make us feel that we are doing something—as we have asked "What do YOU think?"

—C-o-f-C—

Don't forget that lunch tomorrow is served at the Sentinel-Democrat offices; we are their guests and if you have not already sent your card of acceptance, then "Do It Now."

—C-o-f-C—

Praise the Lord the City Council, so we are informed, are arranging to pass and have enforced new traffic and parking ordinances—badly needed. Which leads us to remark: The cop he saw him speedin'—Then Judge Turner saw him put; And these cops are going to get you If you don't watch out.

—C-o-f-C—

The Express Company has inaugurated their new system of two deliveries in the down-town district—one in the morning and one in the afternoon; also two "pick-ups" a day. How does the new service suit you, gentlemen? If you find an improvement, then speak of it to the men in charge of the express office here. They will appreciate it.

—C-o-f-C—

Six new members since last meeting—and without the solicitation of the membership committee. We want to have another "drive" soon—if you can think of any you would like to have solicited to become one of us, then tell some of the officers, and we will be only too glad to invite them.

EDUCATIONAL TOOTH TALK—14 Home Treatment

Home treatment has been responsible for more than one set of artificial teeth. Toothache remedies, appliances of different sorts often give temporary relief, but that is as far as they ever go. They cannot cure, or even retard; they can only ease the pain for the moment. No one can tell at what instant an exposed nerve will start forth in all its fury; it may be just as you are ready to be off to the theatre, a party or a visit. Home remedies are all right—as far as they go, but they should never be allowed to take the place of your dentist. Your dentist can cure you; home remedies may give you temporary relief, but they can also lull you into a false security from which you are due for a rude awakening.—Dr. H. M. Wright, Traders Bank Building.

TO PLAY CARDS FOR PRIZES NOT GAMBLING

When women play cards for prizes it is not an offense against the law, declared Circuit Judge Charles Kerr at Lexington in charging the new grand jury. The declaration was made as the result of charges made by a Lexington minister recently that gambling charges against prominent women had been dropped because of their influence. Judge Kerr said in his charge to the jury that gambling and other evils should be punished as one of the most important held because of a recent fight by a newspaper and several ministers against gambling and operation of slot machines.
